(c) how these policies have so far benefited the industrial sector, especially medium and Small Scale Industries?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY (DR. RAMAN): (a) to (c) The structural reforms in the industrial sector had been introduced in the year 1991 in the form of a New Industrial Policy (NIP). The major objectives of the New Industrial Policy are to build on the gains already made, correct the distortions or weaknesses that may have crept in, maintain a sustained growth in productivity and gainful employment and attain international competitiveness. All sectors of industry whether small, medium or large belonging to the public, private or cooperative sector would be encouraged to grow. In pursuit of these objectives, Government have taken a number of steps, which include, inter-alia the following:—

(i) The scope of de-licensing has been widened. Only six items are under compulsory licensing at present.

(ii) More thrust have been given to attract Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) to supplement domestic investment. For promoting FDI, Government have recently placed all items/ activities under the automatic route, with a few exceptions.

(iii) The investment limit on plant and machinery for SSI/ancillary industrial undertakings has been lowered from Rs. 3 crore to Rs. 1 crore. The limit for tiny industries has been fixed at Rs. 25 lakh.

These policy decisions have resulted in increase in the number of small scale units, increase in the generation of employment and enhancement in exports.
